

Ingram Cemetery Faulkner County Arkansas

Ingram Cemetery is located in the central part of Faulkner County in an area known as Happy Valley. It is located across a pasture and in a grove of trees south of Happy Valley Road.

This cemetery contains many graves marked by native stones. This survey yielded a total of 36 identifiable markers. The last burial in Ingram Cemetery was in 1993. Sterling Sebastin Ingram died in 1861 and was one of the first persons buried in this cemetery.

I was accompanied on this survey by Carnella (Hall) Weir, who had previously surveyed the cemetery in 1990 and again in 1999. A comprehensive and detailed description and history of Ingram Cemetery is contained in "Our Valley: Happy and Cadron Valleys, Faulkner County, Arkansas," by Carnella "Connie" Hall Weir.

Any corrections or additions to this cemetery will be appreciated.
