Thorn Cemetery

Greenbrier, Arkansas

This beautiful cemetery was established in 1854 with the burial of Mahalia Barton Thorn. Thorn Cemetery is a beautiful, well-maintained cemetery located on a hilltop north of Greenbrier off Highway 65. The cemetery contains many grave sites of early settlers of the Greenbrier area, including M. E. Moore, Charles Lieblong, Samuel Glenn, Joseph Dickens, J.M.C. Vaughter, and Dr. E. T. Williams. Other recognizable Greenbrier families buried at Thorn are: Brakebill, Cotton, Edwards, Glover, Graham, Hankins, Harrington, Henderson, Lybarger, May, Merritt, Mobbs, Reynolds, Thomas, Tucker, Tyler, Vann, and Wilson. Also buried here is the last person hanged by Judge Parker, James C. Casharago (1868-1896).

A census was taken in 1978 by Hattie Ann Kelso, Opal and Bera Lieblong, James Kilduff, Fred Wilson, and Lisa Henry, yielding a total of 487 individuals. This cemetery required several visits and many hours putting the information together. I began the survey in July of 2002 and completed it on November 8, 2002. It was surveyed by Glenna Shumate and Sondra Johnson on August 22, 2002, and again on September 1st by Veradean McCord, Charlotte Moudy and Sondra Johnson. I returned on October 28th , November 7th and 8th. (Total of 748 individuals.)

Respectfully submitted,

Sondra Johnson November 2002
